Are you a Qualified Teacher in Maths studies committed to improving the lives of students and young people?

Are you seeking a role that will enable you to make a positive impact on the lives of students facing challenging circumstances?

Can you take initiative, remain calm and understanding when under pressure and act as a positive role model?

If so, the Vocational Training Centre in Sittingbourne is currently looking to recruit a Qualified Maths studies Teacher to start in April on a permanent contract. Students within VTC may be facing a variety of challenges that have meant that they have not had successful experiences within mainstream schools. They may have damaged or low self-esteem, social and emotional problems, or additional special educational needs. As a result, they may not be working at an age-appropriate educational level.

As a Teacher at VTC, you will work to mentor students and support them to maximise their progress achievement and potential. You will have Form Tutor responsibility for KS3 or KS4 pupils and be able to teach Maths studies across these phases up to GCSE.

SEN Maths studiesTeacher | Job Summary

- You will be creative in planning and preparing learning resources that are tailored to the individual needs of each pupil.
- Act as a mentor and positive role model for students, building trusting and supportive working relationships with them.
- Encourage students' educational and personal development.
- Work effectively as a member of a dedicated team to promote student progress and achievement.
- Handle confidential and sensitive information.

This SEN Teacher role is based in a Vocational Independent School in Sittingbourne who prioritise student and staff wellbeing. You will join a small and dedicated team of staff delivering a range of teaching and learning interventions to pupils in small groups.

This is a great opportunity for a qualified teacher who wants to spend more time developing creative learning opportunities for students with varied and complex needs.

Your work will be challenging and rewarding in equal measure, and you will be working in a school with a clear ethos, where we maintain a strong safeguarding culture, where pupils are listened to, respected and involved in as many decisions as possible.

Whilst previous experience of working in an SEN/SEMH environment would be desirable, excellent teaching skills and the right motivation, personal qualities and levels of resilience are just as important. We would also value highly any SENCo experience you may be able to bring to the role. Your SENCo duties would primarily be an advisory role and would be supported by the SENCo administrative assistant.

Educated to Qualified Teacher Status or Qualified Teacher Learning and Skills and Nationally recognised degree, you will be calm, engaging, resilient, and have an innovative, inclusive style of teaching, motivated by helping every student to reach their potential.
